- The European road safety website

The EU has a long history of working to make Europe's roads safer. The website, available in all EU languages, is the latest effort by the European Commission to inform Europeans about responsible behaviour, safer vehicles and better infrastructures.

- Road users

Pedestrians, cyclists, bikers, drivers and passengers are at risk every time they travel.

To reduce the number of road fatalities, the site provides information on everything from education and professional training to seat belts and user behaviour.

- Vehicles

Ensuring vehicles travelling on Europe's roads are safe is a crucial element of keeping road users safe. The road safety site contains information necessary to ensure all vehicles, from motorcycles to lorries, meet a high safety standard.

- Road infrastructures

Road infrastructures have come a long way, and the EU is working to make them even safer. Visitors to the site can find information on activities such as audits, road inspections and improving tunnel safety.

- Specialists

Road safety experts and authorities can find important information on the site about EU action such as EU-funded road safety projects, relevant statistics and best practices.
